

Motorist Killed, Three Seriously Hurt North Of Tobyhanna

Philadelphia Man Dies In 2-Car Crash

A 37-YEAR-OLD Philadelphia man was killed instantly and three other persons seriously injured in an accident near Tobyhanna yesterday. The accident was one of six in the Pocono Mountains during the day.

Dead of a fractured neck and crushed chest was Ernest Rauscher, former Gouldsboro resident. The injured, all occupants of the second car, are John Darlak, 23, his brother Andrew, 33, and Andrew's wife Doris, 33, all of Scotch Plains, Westfield, N. J.

THE ACCIDENT occurred at 11:20 a. m. as Rauscher drove south on Route 611 a mile north of Tobyhanna. Pfc. Homer Jones of Mount Pocono State police, the investigating officer, was near the scene when the accident occurred.

While he did not witness the impact, Jones said it appeared that Rauscher swerved left into the path of the Darlak car and the crushing crash ensued.

Rauscher's car, the right side pushed in, was hurled off the east side of the highway. It overturned as it went down a five-foot embankment. The Darlak car was spun in the same direction.

RAUSCHER fell from the rolling car and the overturned vehicle partially pinned his legs. He died instantly, according to Dr. Charles Rushmore, Monroe County coroner who arrived on the scene and pronounced the Philadelphia dead.

Meanwhile the Darlaks, removed unconscious from the car, were rushed to the General Hospital by U. S. Signal Corps ambulance from Tobyhanna depot. At the hospital doctors and nurses spent several hours in surgery in an effort to save their lives.

Trooper Jones was aided at the scene by guards from the Signal Corps Depot who directed traffic. Scores of spectators stopped to view the accident scene and Rauscher's crushed body which lay in thick brush about 10 feet from the highway. Later, the body was removed to the Wesley Franklin funeral home, Moscow.

RAUSCHER, alone in the car, was a conductor for the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Both cars were demolished. Rauscher's car, registered in the name of Ernest and Ann Rauscher, was bent and twisted viciously. The Darlak car, also a shambles, had the front pushed in like an accordion and the left side ripped.

Throughout the late afternoon and night, interviews with the victims were impossible because of their condition, said Dr. Rushmore.

THE HOSPITAL listed John Darlak as being in critical condition. His head evidently struck the left vent window, for many of his teeth were found lodged there.

Andrew was reported in "fair condition" while his wife was in "satisfactory" condition.

Rauscher's death was the ninth traffic fatality in Monroe County this year.

Jet Crash Kills Four

KANSAS CITY, KAN. (AP)—An Air Force jet plane crashed yesterday and cut a fiery swath through a residential district after narrowly missing a downtown skyscraper, killing four persons. Several others had hair-raising escapes.

The plane, an F-84-F which had just been accepted by the Air Force, plunged to earth at high speed near 9th St. and Nebraska Ave., on the edge of the city's business district, and only a few blocks from the site of a million dollar department store fire Saturday night.

KILLED IN the explosive crash and holocaust was the pilot, identified by the Central Air Defense Force as 2nd Lt. John H. Kapeles, of the 27th Fighter Escort Wing, Bergstrom Air Force Base, near Austin, Tex. His hometown is Casper, Wyo.

The other three victims were residents of two of the three homes set afire by the plane.

Single-Engine Plane Takes Off Across Ocean

PRESTWICK, SCOTLAND (AP)—Mrs. Marion Hart, 61-year-old New Yorker, who says "I'm just a tourist who likes to go places," took off last night on a flight to America in her single-engine plane.

She planned stopovers in Iceland and Greenland. Mrs. Hart has already covered 30,000 miles in her plane in the past 11 months.

She crossed the Atlantic from Newfoundland last August, landing at Shannon Airport in Ireland. Navigator and co-pilot then was Wayne Vetterlein, Shawnee-On-Deleware, Pa. This time, the flight will be tougher because the winds are usually contrary on the east-west route.

Accompanying her on the flight now is British commercial pilot Brian Neely, 29.

Travel Heavy On Highways In Poconos

VACATION TRAFFIC continued to flow into the Poconos yesterday in spite of the bad weather.

Officials and resort spokesmen said it looked as though the big influx that started with the July 4th weekend still was going on.

Motorists moving toward the 7th and Main Sts. thoroughfare in Stroudsburg were backed halfway up Foxtown Hill again at noon.

A SOUTH Stroudsburg businessman who suggested "let's give it back to the Indians" said it took him 20 minutes to travel from the Bryant St.-Park Ave. intersection to Seventh and Main.

Stroudsburg police were on duty at Seventh and Main and at Seventh and Ann to keep traffic moving.

Inclement weather drove many vacationists into the Stroudsburgs for sightseeing and shopping. This put parking space at a premium and blocked traffic even more. One motorist said it took her 15 minutes to go west on Main St. from the interborough bridge to Seventh and Main.

Two Uranium Plants Struck

OAK RIDGE, TENN. (AP)—CIO chemical workers ignored a presidential order yesterday and struck at two uranium-235 plants. They failed, however, to halt production of the vital atomic weapons material.

Despite President Eisenhower's plea to stay on the job until a fact-finding board could look into their wage dispute, about 3,500 workers at the U-235 plant here and 1,000 more at a similar Paducah, Ky., facility struck.

The two plants produce the nation's entire supply of U-235 used in making atomic bombs and other nuclear weapons.

Girl, 7, Stolen From Bed, Slain After Brutal Attack

MIAMI, FLA. (AP)—Blue-eyed Judith Ann Roberts, 7-year-old daughter of a Baltimore lawyer and labor leader, was stolen from her bed by a sex fiend yesterday and brutally ravished and slain.

Hours after the child's nude and blood-covered body was found in a thicket on the shore of Biscayne Bay, police reported they had found no clues to identity of her killer.

LT. Chester Eldredge, head of the police Homicide Bureau, ordered his men to find and bring in for questioning every person listed in the records as a child molester.

JUDITH ANN was kidnapped at 1 a. m. from the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rosenberg. At 6:15 a. m., police found her body in bushes just off fashionable Bayshore Drive, about three miles from the Rosenberg home.

Her head had been battered with a heavy instrument. A piece of gauze was knotted about her throat. Her hands were tied behind her and she was blindfolded with a bandana handkerchief.

Dr. Ben Shepard, medical examiner for the sheriff's office, said the little girl had been raped. Her seersucker nightgown, a flimsy white garment with red polka dots, lay eight feet from her body.

NO ATTEMPT was made to collect a ransom, police said, and Judith Ann's mother, Mrs. Shirley Roberts, said she and her husband, James, were in moderate circumstances and not likely to attract a ransom kidnaper.

The 42-year-old Roberts was on a night club tour with a friend and client, Mrs. Dorothy Lawrence of Baltimore, when the child disappeared. He returned home shortly after 2 a. m.

Police said the killer apparently entered the Rosenberg home through the front door, which had been left unlocked because Roberts was out and did not have a key.

THE INTRUDER sneaked into Roberts' bedroom, stole his car keys from his pants pocket, then took the child from a studio couch in the living room where she was sleeping.

The sound of the Rosenberg car roaring away from the house awoke Mrs. Rosenberg, who got up to find Judith Ann missing and the front door standing open. She aroused Mrs. Roberts and they called police at 1:10 a. m.

At 5:20 a. m., a police patrolman found the Rosenberg car abandoned in the strip of sandy land between Bayshore Drive and the bay. Its wheels were mired in the sand and the killer had tried desperately to get it out.

A BLOCK from the car, one of a score of officers searching the area found Judith Ann's body in the bushes.

Gray Ladies, Frank S. LaBar Win Awards

BENJAMIN RUSH awards were presented yesterday to Frank S. LaBar and the Gray Ladies Volunteer Service of the Monroe County Red Cross.

The annual presentation took place at the Stroudsburg Kiwanis Club meeting in the Penn Stroud Hotel.

Mr. LaBar was honored for outstanding contribution by a layman to the cause of community health. The Gray Ladies received their award for group contribution to health.

THE AWARD honoring Dr. Rush, one of the outstanding physicians of Pennsylvania, a signer of the Declaration of Independence, is given by the medical profession in appreciation for outstanding contributions to public health rendered by non-professional persons and organizations.

Each year the award is made at both a county and state level, said Dr. Evan C. Reese, chairman of public relations of the Monroe County Medical Society, who made the presentation.

The county medical society makes the selections. These are referred to the State Medical Society which acts on the recommendations and authorizes the awards.

MRS. CHARLES MOTT, leader of the Gray Ladies of the Monroe County General Hospital, a division of Red Cross service, received the bronze plaque on behalf of the unit as a group award.

Dr. Reese, in praising the service of the Gray Ladies, said that during the past year 50 women had combined to give 6,000 hours of service to the sick, worried or frightened people who came to the General Hospital or the Red Cross Blood Bank.

The volunteers serve 12 full hours each day at the hospital, serving patients and visitors in hundreds of ways. They are on duty at every visit of the mobile blood unit. Theirs is a continuing service, Dr. Reese said, and since their organization in July 1950, Gray Ladies have served more than 19,500 volunteer hours.

DR. REESE said Mr. LaBar, recipient of the individual award, was always involved in civic affairs, many of them indirectly related to the public health field. His work for the General Hospital was pictured as outstanding as president.

Employment Rises Million During June

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nearly a million more Americans held jobs in June than a month earlier, the government reported yesterday, and unemployment held virtually stable instead of taking its usual sharp June rise.

Total employment climbed to 62,098,000, the highest level since last October but still about a million below the record for June achieved a year ago, Secretary of Labor Mitchell and Secretary of Commerce Weeks announced.

The cheering news on the unemployment side was that joblessness, at 3,347,000 persons, increased only 42,000 from May, despite the release of large numbers of students into the market for jobs.

IN EXPRESSING strong opposition to seating the Communists, "under the present situation," Eisenhower said, "I personally think that 55 per cent of the population of the United States would take the same stand."

"We have Red China going to Geneva (for peace talks on Korea and Indochina), and instead of taking a conciliatory attitude toward anything, it exorciated the United Nations."

"AS A MATTER of fact, in Geneva, it demanded repudiation of the United Nations position. On top of that, Red China is today at war with the United Nations. They were declared an aggressor by the United Nations in the Assembly. That situation has never been changed."

"They are occupying North Korea; they have supplanted this great effort at further enslavement of the peoples in Indochina; they have held certain of our people prisoners unjustifiably, and they have been guilty of the employment of the worst possible diplomatic deportment in the international affairs of the world."

"NOW HOW can the United States, as a self-respecting nation, doing its best and in conformity with the moral standards as we understand them, how can we possibly say this country should be admitted to the United Nations?"

LAWSON SAID he had advised Mr. Doran of that matter before the councilman left on vacation. Mr. Warnick will serve Lee's unexpired term, or until the end of 1957.

Council Reinstates Decker Without Pay During Period Of Suspension From June 3

CHIEF BURGESS HAL H. HARRIS last night advised Stroudsburg Council he would not permit Officer Russell Decker to serve on the police force.

He directed Chief of Police James P. McConnell not to assign Decker to duty or permit him to serve.

His orders came after council unanimously reinstated Decker to duty, but with the provision that his suspension from June 3 be without pay.

DECKER had been first suspended around May 17, but council found the suspension was improper because no charges were filed against Decker with council and no copy given to Decker. This took place at the June 2 meeting of council. Decker was paid up to June 3.

Chief Burgess Harris suspended Decker again June 3 and filed charges and had a copy served on Decker. These charges were aired last night before President Edward R. Lawson, Councilmen H. G. Heller and Daniel Warner. Councilman Edward Doran was absent on vacation.

Chief Burgess Harris' charges were: Inefficiency, Neglect of duty, Disobedience of order from his superiors, Conduct unbecoming an officer, in the presence of Chief McConnell, Failure to properly cover the meters on Main St., 6th and 7th Sts. during April and one week in May.

"I CONSIDER him unfit to work in our organization," Mr. Harris concluded.

Advised to present his case in detail, Mr. Harris said council must be aware of trouble in the past on policing meters and the reorganization which took place to see they were properly policed. He said council is also aware that meter revenue is a vital part of the budget and set budgets at $43,000 this year with expectations of $48,000 "so we can do business."

In support of his charges of lack of meter duty by Decker he said returns in March were $628.25, but dropped to $420.65, a loss of $208 in April. In June figures went back to $631.50.

"YOU CAN'T RUN a program with people who will not work," Mr. Harris said. "I've been on duty here 24 years and know what I'm doing, especially in the district I've represented 33 years. If I had to depend on him (Decker) the budget would never be balanced."

He charged Decker with paying no attention to illegally parked cars on Ann St. and said he would not have a man without initiative or who would not do his duty on the job.

"I shall never approve of spending money on a man who doesn't earn it," the Chief Burgess said.

President Strongly Opposes Admitting Red China To U.N. But Warns Against U.S. Haste

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said yesterday that he is "completely and unalterably opposed" to admitting Red China to the United Nations as things now stand. At the same time he counseled Congress to go slow on proposals to pull America out if the Reds are let in.

He discussed the situation at his news conference and authorized direct quotation of many of his words to underscore his denunciation of the Communist Chinese government. He branded it an aggressor and an enslaver of peoples.

AS FOR QUITTING the United Nations, he took the position that this country's membership in that organization involves "solemn treaty obligations" and any move to repudiate them must be taken only after "the most careful deliberation."

The idea of arranging now to pull out of the U.N. if the Chinese Reds get a seat has been advanced in various forms by several senators. One of these, Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.), said shortly after the President's news conference that he thought Congress would go along with the chief executive, to see what the United Nations decides before taking action in Washington. Eisenhower expressed the view that it was unlikely the other U.N. members would override the wishes of the United States.

IN EXPRESSING strong opposition to seating the Communists, "under the present situation," Eisenhower said, "I personally think that 55 per cent of the population of the United States would take the same stand."

"We have Red China going to Geneva (for peace talks on Korea and Indochina), and instead of taking a conciliatory attitude toward anything, it exorciated the United Nations."

No-Parking, 1-Way Street Rules Adopted

STROUDSBURG Council last night expanded its one-way streets layout and imposed new no-parking regulations to speed up traffic in the borough, but delayed action on parallel parking on Main St. and other recommendations of a Chamber of Commerce traffic committee pending setting up of off-street parking lots.

Rulings put into effect last night were based on recommendations of Chief Burgess Hal H. Harris, the police and observations by council members and borough employees.

COUNCIL DECIDED Sixth St. a one-way street northbound from Ann to Sarah St. It already is one-way north between Ann and Main Sts.

Eighth St. was made one-way northbound from Ann to Sarah St. to handle heavy bus travel on South Eighth and to help synch northbound traffic off Main St.

No parking was applied to south side of lower Main St. from Fourth St. to the Canfield feed mill, providing for solid no parking on the south side of Main St. from Fourth St. to the State Bridge between the boroughs, and on the south side of Ann St. from Seventh to Eighth St., except for the 30-minute parking allowance in front of Stroudsburg Postoffice.

THIS LATTER move will provide for uninterrupted flow of travel—with no parking on both sides of Ann St. from Fifth St. to S. Tenth St.

The elimination of parking on lower Main was instituted to compensate for narrowness of the street and the extremely heavy flow of traffic between the boroughs at this point.

Jack Kerlin, secretary of a special Chamber of Commerce committee on traffic, advised council that as head of a special committee of merchants he had received favorable response from several owners of off-street lots for parking areas. One or two are undecided. Immediate contacts will be made with these people to press for development of off-street parking.

ACTING AS spokesman for the Chamber of Commerce group, Mr. Kerlin outlined their proposals for "immediate" relief to the Stroudsburg traffic strangle pending construction of an adequate thruway. They include:

Parallel parking on Main from 7th to 9th. No parking at all on south 7th. Lines on Main St. and more prominent signs directing right turns at 7th and Main and elimination of left turns; installation of two traffic lane markings on Main from 7th to 9th and installation of two traffic markings on the 7th St. bridge and South 7th St.

"We appeal to you to try some of these proposals, perhaps over a weekend, to test their effectiveness," Kerlin said. "If one does not work try another. After all we must straighten out our own backyard before we turn to the state. Closing of Fifth St. bridge puts an added burden on the situation."

KERLIN SAID the group has asked the highway department to put signs at the Water Gap traffic circle to direct some traffic to Route 402 or to Paradise Valley via East Stroudsburg to keep them out of Stroudsburg.

"We have had no reply to our letter," Kerlin said.

Speaking for council, President Edward R. Lawson said that Stroudsburg traffic's question is well known and has been under careful study by council, but that the whole is entangled with the need for parking space, already at a premium.

HE ADVISED the group of the progress already made in providing extra parking, with off-street lots, but noted again that with parking at a premium, the matter of parallel problems remains one which can be of best service only after adequate off-street parking is found to provide for loss by reason of giving up diagonal parking.

Lawson pointed out that council, in conjunction with the state, initiated a traffic survey with origin and destination checks in the hope

Poconos Begin Hunt For Most Talented Girl

CONTESTANTS from Pocono Mountain resorts are invited to enter the Miss Pocono contest being conducted by The Daily Record and Shawnee Inn in cooperation with the National Broadcasting Company's "Junior Jinx" contest.

All girls, under 21 years of age, married or single, residents of the area or vacationers at one of the Pocono Mountain resorts, are eligible for the Miss Pocono title.

The Pocono area contest is to produce a finalist who will compete with finalists from nine other areas for the "Junior Jinx" title, which carries with it a radio and TV contract worth at least five thousand dollars in a year, and a two weeks all-expense paid vacation to El Rancho Vegas, via TWA.

TEX AND JINX McCrary, radio and TV stars and producers are sponsoring the "Junior Jinx" contest and will personally promote the career of the winner, who will in fact and name be a "Junior Jinx", but who will have in a few weeks time the opportunities to become a radio and TV personality that Jinx Falkenburg McCrary worked for years to attain.

The girl selected will have to live up to some pretty high standards. She must be good looking enough to model, sports-minded enough to play tennis and swim gracefully, poised enough to wear fashionable clothes, and she must have the enthusiasm, intelligence and curiosity necessary to be trained as a television reporter.

A RECENT photo with a letter stating qualifications is all that is required to enter. The photo and letter are to be sent to Junior Jinx Contest, c/o Michael A. Devitt, Shawnee Inn, Shawnee-On-Deleware, Pa.

The contest to select Miss Pocono will be held at Shawnee Inn Saturday, August 7. The inner will then be eligible for the Junior Jinx finals to be held in conjunction with the Long Island Hospital Star Night, Long Island, N. Y., Sept. 15, when some 85,000 people will gather to witness one of the nation's greatest entertainment programs featuring stage, radio and TV stars.

of the board of directors where Dr. Reese said he has spent countless hours helping improve the medical facilities.

Mr. LaBar's work directly and indirectly for the Community Chest, Monroe County Welfare Assn., Child Guidance Center, Monroe County Crippled Children's Assn., Child Health group, Children's Aid Society, Boy and Girl Scouts and Public Health Nursing were pointed out by Dr. Reese. Mr. LaBar in his reply mentioned numerous others whom he said deserved much credit for their labors.

THE MAIN SPEAKER was Harold Swenson, executive Secretary of the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce. He was presented by LeRoy Mikels, president of the group.

Mr. Swenson explained how the Vacation Bureau and Chamber of Commerce cooperate in their projects and the wide field covered. The Vacation Bureau has its own officers, but operates within the Chamber of Commerce he said. The Vacation Bureau boosts the resort business with much publicity and $10,000 worth of newspaper advertising, the speaker said.

Objectives of the Chamber of Commerce were described as mainly to secure more industries and more residents of the county. He explained how the chamber operates and said efforts are made to acquaint the public with the details. He also said that many problems are faced and real efforts are made to solve them.

STROUDSBURG and Easton Kiwanians will stage a golf tournament at Glen Brook Country Club next Wednesday afternoon. Local golfers are to report to J. H. Stofflet for the event.

Dr. Donald B. Corson and Russell Harmon were in charge of the song period.

Guests welcomed by Dr. C. W. Dupee, president, included Kiwanian Earl S. Evans, Bethlehem; also Rev. Daniel Nicely, Denver, Col.; Len Schultz, Flushing, L. I.; E. Newman Adams, Barre, Vt., and Tom Campbell and Howard E. Hall, Stroudsburg.

Next Thursday night, delegations of the Stroudsburg club will make inter-club visits to both the Newton and Hackettstown, N. J., clubs.

Burgess Harris Advises Council Not To Rehire Patrolman

Decker Is Reinstated Without Pay

MR. HARRIS SAID that any story that he used any officer, including McConnell as a chauffeur and for anything other than official business "is a malicious falsehood."

Councilman Heller asked McConnell if Decker had displayed insubordination in the police office in his presence. The chief of police said Decker refused to answer the chief Burgess' question when asked about duty on Ann St.

Harris asked council to sustain the suspension.

Attorney Walter Olenick, Decker's counsel, was given an opportunity to answer Mr. Harris' charges.

MR. OLENICK SAID the Harris charges were "mere bald conclusions unsupported by facts."

"It is an insult to the intelligence of this body to claim drop in revenue is due solely to alleged inefficiency. There are no direct charges or specific instances of what Mr. Decker did to contribute to loss of revenue, and I would remind this council meters are for traffic control, not revenue."

"If the mayor is so zealous about revenue why did he wait until May 17 to suspend? What about the first, second, third or fourth week in May?"

"HE HAS BEEN USING his powers as a shield for personal reasons. There's not one shred of evidence or fact to back any of these charges. Interest should center in when, where and what meters were neglected, because there are so many other factors which might affect meter revenue."

President Lawson said he would be inclined to disregard charges involving revenue or meters and center on disobedience of orders and conduct unbecoming an officer.

Mr. Olenick said Mr. Harris had failed to give any specific outline of instances of such charges.

MR. HARRIS was asked what orders he gave Decker, other than one directing the officer to drive him to East Stroudsburg to present an official of American Federation of Labor at a Central Labor Union 20th anniversary.

"That was enough," replied Mr. Harris, "and he refused to do it for no reason at all."

Decker said he refused because he felt he was hired by the borough to serve in the borough and to remain on duty there in case anything happened. He said he was asked by Harris to drive him to East Stroudsburg on a Sunday afternoon when no other officer was on duty.

MR. LAWSON said he would have to agree there was insubordination in Decker's refusal to take an order, but that Decker was perhaps doing what he did because he felt it was to the best interests of the borough. He said he was not endorsing Decker's refusal, simply trying to look at it "through the eyes of the officer."

Harris said that Assistant Chief Tretheway had made reports about Decker.

Councilman Heller asked McConnell if he had such reports because they might have a bearing on the case. McConnell said he had none because they were direct to the mayor.

LAWSON asked if Tretheway could not be summoned, but Harris said he had no desire to involve the assistant chief.

Decker again told his story of the Sunday afternoon order from Harris to take him to East Stroudsburg. He said he told the chief Burgess he was sorry he couldn't do it because it was out of his jurisdiction.

Councilman Heller asked Decker to disclose how he knew or felt the trip would be out of his jurisdiction.

Decker said when he was sworn in he was sworn to serve in the borough and that fellow officers told him that while on duty "he was not to leave the borough unless in pursuit of a criminal."

LAWSON, HELLER and Warner agreed the case could not be considered on the issue of meters or revenue, but on the one instance of insubordination in refusal to obey an order of the chief Burgess who had the right to say, under the law, when, where and how police work.

Boiled down to that issue, Councilman Heller made a motion that the suspension of Officer Decker by Chief Burgess Harris on June 3 be approved without pay, but that Decker be immediately reinstated as of last night's council meeting.

In making the motion Councilman Heller noted that Decker had refused an order from a superior, but had exercised his own good judgment in keeping with his knowledge and desire to serve the best interests of the borough by remaining on duty. All three councilmen concurred with the motion.

It was then that Mr. Harris advised "I will not assign him to duty."

YMCA Directors Appoint Committee To Recommend Action In Building Tieup

YMCA BOARD yesterday set up a three-man committee to make "recommendations" for action in its building holdup at the next regular board meeting.

That meeting will be held Tuesday night, July 13. Members of the committee will be the board president, E. Holt Wyckoff; the vice president, the chairman of the Y building committee and legal counsel.

Motion to set up the committee came after more than an hour of discussion on the prolonged strike at the site of the Y's new building. A decision on that work stoppage is forthcoming from President Judge Fred W. Davis.

THE Y BOARD is not a part of the legal dispute. Principals in that issue are the local plumbers' union and Hanford L. Cleveland, a plumbing contractor for such work on the proposed Y building.

Decision to set up the "recommended action" committee was reached after a suggestion by Clifford Gilliam, board member. Gilliam said a small committee should be appointed so that recommendations could be more easily agreed upon.

Such recommendations, he said, should be put before the full Y board of directors and the decision left in that group's hands.

ARTHUR F. EVERITT voiced agreement with the Gilliam suggestion. Everitt put his agreement in the form of a motion. It was seconded by C. A. Keiper. It carried by unanimous voice vote.

Board members expressed the hope during the course of the meeting that a court decision on the legal question involving Cleveland and the union would be reached prior to the next regular meeting.

Yesterday's special meeting was held in the directors' room of the First National Bank in Stroudsburg.

CYPHERS was thrown from the car by impact but reportedly was unhurt. Police said he would report to his family physician for examination.

Stroudsburg State police also investigated a 4:30 a. m. accident which climaxed with a car being demolished by fire.

John H. Colwell, 31, of Bloomfield, N. J., told police he was traveling west on Route 209 when he car went out of control near Solota. The car glanced off a utility pole then caught fire. Colwell and a passenger, Harry Van DerWerf, 27, of West New York, N. J., climbed from the burning vehicle. Colwell was unhurt but Van DerWerf suffered a cut chin.

AN EASTON man was injured at 4:40 a. m. in Lehman Township, Pike County, when his car left Route 209 and crashed into a tree. Milford State police identified the driver as William J. Claus, 21. He was admitted to the General Hospital, East Stroudsburg, suffering a leg fracture. His condition was reported as "good."

A passenger in the car, Harold Fox, also of Easton, escaped injury, police said.

IN ANOTHER Pike County mishap four persons were slightly hurt and about $500 damages resulted from a two-car crash.

Milford State police said they will charge Lou B. Plotkins, 36, of Brookline, Mass., with driving on the wrong side of the road as a result of the 9:45 a. m. accident on Legislative Route 691.

Three passengers in Plotkins' car suffered minor injuries, police said, and a passenger in the other vehicle, a taxicab of Delaware Valley Transportation Co., Stroudsburg, received slight injuries.

ACCORDING to police Plotkins, driving south on the wrong side of the road, hit the taxi driven by Paul Hull, 25, of W. Main St., Stroudsburg. Hull was not hurt but his passenger, Francis Eagen, Camp Tamiment, received a bruised knee and elbow.

Hurt in the Plotkins car were Ben Bocuiek, of Brooklyn, N. Y., suffering a bruised left leg; Ruth Cohen, New York City, bruised leg, and Anne Benosh, Frackville, Pa., nose bleed. The fourth passenger, Ethel Casher, of New York City, was not hurt.

DAMAGES amounted to $1,000 when a tractor-trailer struck a Pennsylvania Power and Light Co.

Jurisdiction Dispute To Be Argued

THE QUESTION of whether the county court has jurisdiction in the YMCA injunction case will be argued at 10 a. m. Friday.

President Judge Fred W. Davis issued the order for additional briefs and oral argument on that point late yesterday afternoon. The case was turned over to the court for final determination June 28.

THIS MEANT that plaintiff Hanford L. Cleveland, East Stroudsburg plumbing contractor, and defendants, Plumbers Union Local 655 and its business agent, Ralph Paul, agreed to let the pleadings and testimony up to that point stand as the entire record in the case.

Cleveland's attorneys are Walter Olenick and Elmer D. Christine. Representing the union is Forrest W. Mervine.

The jurisdiction question was raised by the union attorney.

MERVINE asserted Cleveland's business is "closely identified with interstate commerce and that at least 40 per cent of the products handled by Cleveland are made outside Pennsylvania. Value of these products is $80,000, the union alleged.

The National Labor Relations Board—a Federal organization—and not the county court should have jurisdiction, therefore, the union held.

Olenick and Christine answered that 80 per cent of Cleveland's supplies and materials are bought inside Pennsylvania . . . and that all his services and installations have been made in Pennsylvania.

THEY ARGUED that the contractor's men are not producing anything that is being shipped or sold across State lines, and added that Cleveland is operating a "purely local business not connected with anyone engaged in commerce."

Therefore, they argued, the county court and not the NLRB has jurisdiction.

Work stopped at the Y building site Sept. 28—more than nine months ago. The job was picked. The union said it wished only to organize Cleveland's men. Cleveland said his men didn't want to join the union and he was not going to force them to.

the state would provide some relief. The survey, he said, was initiated for that very reason.

Gerald P. O'Neill urged that council try the proposal and see what happens by elimination of diagonal parking.

MR. LAWSON said it is this proposal which gets into the difficult need for parking which is already at high premium.

Council approved a plan submitted by utilities and approved by Russell Harmon, chairman of Shade Tree Commission, and Edward C. Hess, engineer, for elimination and consolidation of poles on Broad St. Some ten poles will be eliminated.

Council adopted an ordinance requiring all oil bulk plants in the borough to dyke around their plants as a fire protection measure. Capacity of the dyke will have to be equal to the largest and ten per cent of any other tanks.

This action was taken at the request of Fire Chief Millard Marsh who called attention to the Swartley Oil Co. kerosene leakage case. Said Marsh: "We've been lucky twice now, and its time they were dyked."

Chest X-Rays Total 838 For Two Days

MONROE COUNTY Tuberculosis and Health Society reported 452 persons were X-rayed yesterday. It was the second day of the current drive to X-ray all food-handlers and industrial workers in the county. First day total (Tuesday) was 386 bringing the total for both days to 838.

Two stops were made yesterday. At the first stop, Buck Hill Falls, 360 persons were given free chest X-rays. Yesterday afternoon the stop was Hughes Printing Co. in East Stroudsburg where 152 workers were X-rayed.

TODAY THE X-raying will be done at Skytop Lodge from 10 to 11:30 a. m., and at Pocono Crest, Pocono Lake, from 2 to 4 p. m.

Friday the unit will stop at Bell Telephone Co. from 8 to 10 a. m. From 1:30 to 3:30 p. m. it will be at Stroudsburg Engine Works for employees of that firm and six other local firms.

Mrs. Estelle Fleming, executive secretary of the local society, said last night that the unit being used this week is a "portable" type unit. For this reason the X-raying does not need a "mobile unit" or bus. Next week, when X-raying resumes on Monday the mobile unit will be used. Until then, Mrs. Fleming said, residents should not look for an identifying bus parked in front of the X-raying site.

Poconos Public Health

Monroe County Tuberculosis Society is again reaching out in its anti-tuberculosis and general public health improvement campaign to X-ray all good handlers.

The society's staff, headed by Mrs. Estelle Fleming, executive secretary, is touring the entire county with a portable X-ray unit to best serve food handlers in resorts, stores, tap rooms and other places where individuals come in contact with food or drink in service to the public.

While X-ray examinations are compulsory in both boroughs, they are not in any of the townships. Despite this lack of legal requirement, resorts and business places are giving sound cooperation.

This is another instance where a local agency is concerned and does something to maintain public health in the Poconos.

Pay-Later Travel

In this summer period of vacations, with so many looking forward to a visit to faraway places, it is interesting to see the new departure in payment for air transportation begun by several companies whose planes span the oceans, and taken up by other large airline organizations.

Pan American Airways began the plan more than two months ago, with its "pay later" plan arranged through a loan system, and reported that it already has attracted substantial new business. Then followed the Scandinavian Airlines System composed of the coordinated companies of Sweden, Norway, and Denmark which followed the same general plan.

Now comes Transworld Airlines, with its long domestic and overseas routes, introducing a new "Time Pay Plan" covering both kinds of routes, to take effect Aug. 1. Under the scheme, a traveler completes a short form and pays down 10 per cent of the fare, with payment of the balance spread out as long as 20 months.

Despite the head-shaking of those who do not favor any kind of time payments for any commodity, it seems to us that this sort of thing offers a wonderful opportunity for small wage-earners who otherwise could never enjoy the travel opportunities permitted their more financially fortunate brothers and sisters.

The so-called "little people," a term we despise, can now fly to faraway lands for an adventure such as they never dreamed about in their most imaginative moments.

They could even fly to the Poconos if we had an adequate airport.

A vista of travel experience means a wonderful vacation unheard of before the airlines put forth the new plan.

Contempt for Life

Just a few short days ago they were alive, happy over approaching long holiday weekend and looking forward to a brief respite from daily toil.

Today they are dead, just as dead as though they had been killed on the field of battle but with the important difference that they died to no purpose, unless one considers the stupid arrogance of man a goal to be sought with all vigor.

They are the holiday dead, the men and the women who died because the driver of their own or of another automobile refused to heed the warnings of so many agencies and so many individuals, and decided that they alone were the only ones who knew how a motor vehicle should be driven.

Did they have a contempt for life, these holiday dead? Probably not. Doubtless they had as much interest in life as do all of us, and quite as much reluctance to depart from it before their appointed time.

But they certainly failed to demonstrate this feeling, these holiday dead, as they zoomed along the roads and highways and streets with supreme contempt for the rights of other drivers and for the laws of physics so easily determined by observation.

This is a tragic era in which we live, this era when men and women and boys and girls refuse to observe even the most fundamental of rules of the road, and who as a result die in such numbers every day and every weekend.

Maybe they wanted it that way, these dead who showed such contempt for life. We cannot believe this, but what other explanation is there to offer?

The Once Over

—by H. I. Phillips

JOE DOAKES AND THE OPPENHEIMER CASE

The holiday weekend gave Joe Doakes a little time to reflect on the recent four-to-one verdict denying security clearance to Dr. Robert Oppenheimer. (He remained a little uncertain whether this was the final or semi-final verdict.)

However, these questions kept annoying him: (1) how could there be such slow motion as this in a field of atomic speed; (2) how can you bar from top atomic secrets a man who is loaded with all the top atomic secrets; (3) how secure is our present state of security when a man who had so much to do with it is barred as a security risk for performance when he was directing Uncle Sam's security?

Mr. Doakes likes to feel that any headman in "Operation Security" has never known a day when he could admire the Communist line, picnic with Communists, give a plugged dime to a Communist cause or lunch in Paris with a man pretty well identified as a Red leader. Doakes has never given a Communist the right time. He has trouble understanding those who have been palsy-walsy at any time or any place under any conditions. But it is when he takes a gander at the dissenting verdict by the one scientist member of the "Jury," Dr. Henry D. Smyth, that Mr. Doakes calls for the aspirin and cries, "It must of been sumpin' I ate." Believe like not, Dr. Smyth uses words like "repulsive conduct," "inexcusable," and "belated report of attempted espionage" against Dr. Oppenheimer, and yet concludes that "LEAVES A PICTURE OF DR. OPPENHEIMER AS AN ABLE, IMAGINATIVE human being with NORMAL HUMAN WEAKNESSES!" Brother, how normal can your human weaknesses get in the atomic war age?

But you ain't heard nuthin' yet, Dr. Smyth adds, "Persistent and long association with Communists since the war, are nothing but the occasional incidents of a complex life!" We thought we had heard everything ever offered in defense of lads who had been somewhat palsy-walsy with the party liners! If Dr. Smyth hasn't taken your breath away by this time, he comes up with the declaration that the security system shouldn't be taken too much to heart, anyhow, and says that if a man "misunderstands his obligations to a security system (even on a job that means the difference between life and death for millions) it is nothing but an error calling for reproof, not disbarment." There is still more, bud. "With respect to the alleged disregard of the security system I would suggest that the system itself is nothing to worship," says the scientist in his dissenting opinion. Omigod! Pardon, Joe Doakes, Doctor, if on the brink of an abyss he shows a little worship of security. And going back to that "nothing but an error" crack, Doctor . . .

Robert S. Allen Reports

Eisenhower Cancels Plans For Tests Of H-Weapons

Washington — President Eisenhower has cancelled plans for another series of hydrogen weapon tests in the fall.

He also has frozen the size of H-bombs to the one detonated March 1.

Both decisions were made on the recommendation of Atomic Energy Commission Chairman Lewis Strauss. Secretary of State Dulles also advised against hydrogen explosions for the present.

Technical and security factors are chiefly responsible for this action.

Example: Tests involving fissionable materials have become an important source of information regarding these crucial developments. Highly effective instruments and systems have been perfected for this purpose. That's why both the U. S. and Russia did not publicize their last explosions. Also, the autumnal weather of the South Pacific is deemed especially unfavorable for hydrogen experiments. The strong winds and heavy rains greatly enlarge the danger of radiation.

The March 1 test was the first of an actual hydrogen weapon. The previous and subsequent explosions involved hydrogen devices. The destructiveness of the bomb considerably exceeded the calculations of the experts. The catalytic results of this experiment are still undergoing scientific evaluation. Until that is completed, the President agreed there is no need to build bigger H-bombs.

Note: West Germany is quietly preparing to enter the atomic field. Its scientists have been getting ready for that for several years, and when the country's full sovereignty is restored, possibly in the fall, Germany will become an active atomic participant.

Boomerang — The President's two unannounced decisions are having explosive effect on his proposals for far-reaching domestic and foreign revisions of the Atomic Act.

This legislation is scheduled to come before the House sometime next week. Administration leaders were able to pry it out of the Joint Committee only by making a number of concessions to Republican and Democratic critics. One of these compromises was abandoning the so-called "principal officer" provision. Under it, Chairman Strauss would have greater powers than the other four Commissioners.

This was vigorously assailed as setting up "one-man rule." Commissioners Murray and Smyth, in testimony before the Joint Committee, charged that major decisions were being made without their knowledge.

The nature of these decisions cannot be disclosed. But several days after hearing Murray and Smyth, the Committee junked the "principal officer" plan.

The President's action has raised that issue all over again. Commiteemen are again sputtering about "one-man rule." They have been told the President cancelled the proposed hydrogen test and froze the size of H-bombs solely on the advice of Strauss and without consulting the other Commissioners. The latter learned about it from scientists and the Air Force, which urged more tests but was disregarded. I've over this backstage situation is so inflamed that it's leading to a public fight on the floor of the House.

Representative Chet Holifield (D., Calif.), opposition leader, will offer an amendment aimed expressly at curbing Strauss. It will require that all Commissioners have "equal access to all atomic information." A major complaint of Strauss' colleagues is that he withholds information from them.

Holifield has Senate backing. If his amendment is rejected by the House, it will be brought up in the Senate during the big adjournment rush, the opposition will be in a potent position to win concessions on threat to kill the bill by filibustering.

Note: If Congress enacts the President's proposal to exchange atomic information with our allies, the Joint Chiefs of Staff are prepared to recommend swapping certain external data regarding atomic and hydrogen weapons, such as their size, weight, design and destructive force.

Curious Relatives — Defense Secretary Charles Wilson precipitated a curious discussion during a private meeting with leaders of the House Armed Services Committee.

He was explaining the need for six additional Pentagon assistant secretaries: two each for the Army, Navy and Air Force. In the course of his remarks, Wilson exclaimed, "The situation is somewhat like the one that confronted Moses' father-in-law."

"You mean Pontiac, I take it," broke in Representative Carl Vinson (D., Ga.), with a grin. "I would say it's Buick," quipped Representative Paul Kilday (D., Tex.). "Well, it's a cinch it isn't Dodge," said Representative George Miller (D., Calif.) in whose district a Dodge plant recently shut down throwing hundreds out of work.

Wilson joined in the laughter but, obviously, was mystified as to just what was the joke.

Try and Stop Me

—by Bennet Cerf

When Adlai Stevenson heard that England's famous General Montgomery had admitted that, though the names of Yale, Harvard, and McGill were familiar to him, he never, no never, had even heard of Princeton, Adlai — a Tigertown product himself, of course — thought it was fair to strike back. So he told of the day a member of Parliament protested near the end of World War II that Monty had no right to entertain a captured German general at dinner. Mr. Churchill retorted, "Were you ever entertained by General Montgomery at dinner? If you were, you might decide that no worse fate could befall an enemy officer!"

Steve Allen, droll TV star, says that a comedian always starts his next story with "And seriously," after the last one has laid an egg. "And seriously," he adds, "we've been packing the rafters at our own show. Of course, there haven't been many people in the seats, but we sure are packing those rafters!"

George Sokolsky Says . . .

How Easy It Becomes To Conquer Nations When It Is Unnecessary To Go To Battles

In the building of a universal state, it is sometimes necessary to give the appearance of retreat in order more skillfully to move forward. Such wars as World War I and World War II had to be fought in as much a hurry as possible because war exhausts not only the defeated but the victors. In building a universal state, however, time is not of the essence. The object is to accumulate states by infiltration and adhesion — a slower, less costly process.

The French accept their defeat in Indochina and are making the best of it by an apparent compromise. They are retreating from Hanoi and the Chinese Communists will apparently give up Laos and Cambodia. Laos and Cambodia can wait until the People's Republic of Indochina, supported by the Chinese Communists, moves, on its own, to unify the whole of Indochina into a federation of autonomous republics. Who shall gain the "voluntary" organization of such a federation — the will of the people? And who shall in 1957 or 1958 say that it is not the will of the people?

How easy it becomes to conquer countries when it is unnecessary to fight for them! Soviet Russia has not lost a man in the Korean or the Indochina wars. All that needs to be done is to create a new, high-sounding slogan, something that is essentially true in thought but utterly false in application, something like "Co-existence." Why, in truth, should not nations with different systems of life co-exist? They always have in the past. Therefore, use "Co-existence" as a method for conquest, just as the world, Democracy, worked so well at Yalta and Potsdam.

Tonkin and Annam in Indochina are now part of the Soviet Universal State, mastered by the Chinese Communists. These two countries have for centuries been under Chinese cultural and political influence. Sometimes, they were actually controlled by Chinese Emperors, long before the French moved into the Red River Valley.

Cambodia is altogether a different kind of a country. The people are of Khmer origin. The Khmers must have been a highly civilized people as the ruins at Angkor Vat indicate. These buildings of surprising beauty could only have been planned and built by men of a high state of culture. Some Siamese may also be of Khmer origin, although that country consists of many races. At any rate, Cambodia is closer to Siam culturally than it is to Annam or Tonkin where Chinese influences are greater. In fact, Siam once annexed Angkor but was induced to restore that city to Cambodia.

As the Red River is the main thoroughfare between Tonkin and China, so the Mekong River is the leading river of Cambodia, also flowing from China passing through Laos into Cambodia which it traverses to its delta on the South China Sea. The delta is one of the richest rice producing areas in the world. Its value to Communist China cannot be underestimated and therefore it must be assumed that its conquest will not be too long delayed.

But for this delta the Soviet Universal State can afford to wait rather than to risk a fighting war which must involve Russia itself. If the French can be induced to withdraw from Indochina and if the United States can be discouraged from going in, the question of the successor-state arises. If a Communist Indochina government is recognized by France, does not that government become the successor state? Does not France, in effect, establish it as the successor state?

In 1954, that question will not arise, but in 1955 or in 1956 when other issues attract attention, will not the Communist government of Indochina, after it had been recognized by France, as it is de facto being so recognized now, claim its rights as the successor-state to a unified Indochina which must include Laos, bordering on Burma, and Cambodia on the Gulf of Siam?

So the new empire builds itself, step by step, patiently outwearing opposition, devising slogans which appeal to the Western eye and ear, to the lust for peace, a desire so great in our country and in Great Britain that it becomes a lure. Perhaps there is no other course but to give in until a place is found where a stand could not be made effectively in Indochina except by bombing the mainland of China.

Looking At Life

—by Erich Brandeis

An American financier who had recently returned from a trip to Europe explained to me the difference between American and English politicians in this way:

"To the American, politics is a business; to the Englishman, it is a career." I don't know how accurate my friends observation was since I have seen some pretty seedy English politicians and some mighty intelligent and fine looking American ones.

But I do know that what applies to politics also applies to business in general. And, since I do not intend to dwell on politics any longer than necessary, there being enough political columnists as it is, I shall immediately go to the next subject — business.

I am doing so particularly because now that the graduations are over thousands, yea millions, of young men must be traveling all over this land looking for jobs and for careers.

Everyone of these young men has an idea that he is going to conquer the world. Everyone of them considers himself the equal of the superior of the company's president.

Doesn't the brand-new sheepskin in his pocket PROVE that he is commercially and financially? Hasn't he just been told by the valedictorians that HIS is the world to conquer, that HE is the one to whom we old fogies look to teach us all the new tricks and to discard all the old rules and regulations?

Of course, the embryo is in for a tremendous shock. HE will soon find out that trolley cars still run on four wheels, that in spite of jets and aeroplanes they are still operating trains and that the 30 and 40 and 50-year-old fogies are still running them.

So, in my humble opinion, it behooves the new job seeker to look not so much for a lucrative business as for a rewarding career — a career that finds its fulfillment in the work itself.

There is no such thing as a "good" war. However, we have to rate that Guatemalan fracas the best of recent shooting matches. It only lasted 12 days.

the South China Sea. The delta is one of the richest rice producing areas in the world. Its value to Communist China cannot be underestimated and therefore it must be assumed that its conquest will not be too long delayed.

But for this delta the Soviet Universal State can afford to wait rather than to risk a fighting war which must involve Russia itself. If the French can be induced to withdraw from Indochina and if the United States can be discouraged from going in, the question of the successor-state arises. If a Communist Indochina government is recognized by France, does not that government become the successor state? Does not France, in effect, establish it as the successor state?

In 1954, that question will not arise, but in 1955 or in 1956 when other issues attract attention, will not the Communist government of Indochina, after it had been recognized by France, as it is de facto being so recognized now, claim its rights as the successor-state to a unified Indochina which must include Laos, bordering on Burma, and Cambodia on the Gulf of Siam?

So the new empire builds itself, step by step, patiently outwearing opposition, devising slogans which appeal to the Western eye and ear, to the lust for peace, a desire so great in our country and in Great Britain that it becomes a lure. Perhaps there is no other course but to give in until a place is found where a stand could not be made effectively in Indochina except by bombing the mainland of China.

Historical Society Board Unveils Portrait Of First President; Plan July Tour

The unveiling of the portrait of Dr. Mary Erdman, founder and president for many years of the Monroe County Historical Society, marked the summer board meeting of the society held yesterday afternoon at the Stroud Community House Historical Society rooms.

The portrait, painted by Robert Logan, is to be hung in the museum rooms, and will also be on display at the winter meeting of the society. Mrs. Chester Rhodes, chairman of the committee which arranged for the portrait made the presentation, with Dr. Nathan Meyer, president, accepting it on behalf of the society.

In his speech of acceptance, Dr. Meyer hailed Dr. Erdman as "an altruistic citizen who wanted posterity to enjoy the historical heritage; a community leader who was active in many organizations, a friendly person who added constantly to her large circle of friends, a dynamic personality who inspired others to altruistic action, and a resourceful president who was always alert to ways to improve the Monroe County Society by gift, purchase or personal service."

Mrs. Rhodes said that the picture had been taken to Dr. Erdman and that she was well pleased with it. It was placed in the keeping of Mrs. Horace G. Walters, curator of the historical society.

Also turned over to the society at the meeting yesterday afternoon were old pictures and maps, presented by Mrs. Elmer Kiefer, and brought to the meeting by Dr. Charles Flagler.

The increasing gifts to the society and the need for more room for displaying the treasures were discussed at the meeting in connection with the fact that the Monroe County Library will soon be moved from the Stroud Community House. Dr. Meyer named Mrs. Horace Walters, Miss Lulu Shafer, Dr. LeRoy Koehler and Earl Groner as a committee to investigate the possibilities of expansion.

One of the major items of business discussed by the board was the mid-summer pilgrimage scheduled for July 17. The tour, being arranged by C. Edward DePuy, Miss Minnie Bishong, Mrs. Walters and Roger Dunning, will be to Pennsylvania Manor and to the Bucks County Historical Museum in Doylestown.

There have already been about 50 persons signed up for the tour which will leave the Ramsey

League Opens Membership Campaign Sunday

The Hamilton Parish Church League met at Christ Church, Hamilton Square, for a membership campaign meeting. A general invitation was issued to young people to join the League, either through calling one of the members or by coming to the meetings which are always open to new members.

The next meeting will be held Sunday night, July 11, at Mount Eaton Church. It will be an outdoor meeting. The topic will be led by Joan Hunt and the games by Kay Bush.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Today's social page is devoted to the older generation but the kind of older generation that we wish we might turn into some day.

Take Dr. Mary Erdman's portrait. To the youngsters who never had the privilege of knowing her, she's become sort of a legend in her own lifetime. Educated as a lawyer as well as a doctor, she came out of retirement during the "flu" epidemic to nurse the ill who flooded into the makeshift hospital they arranged.

She was not only founder of the historical society, but active in the organization of the old Civic Club and with a finger in every worthwhile community project. Stated like that, she sounds pretty formidable.

Which is why I'm glad the youngsters will have a chance to see that she is also a very pretty woman, and gracious with a charm that you never forget. She now lives with her daughter, Lorraine, in Tenafly, N. J.

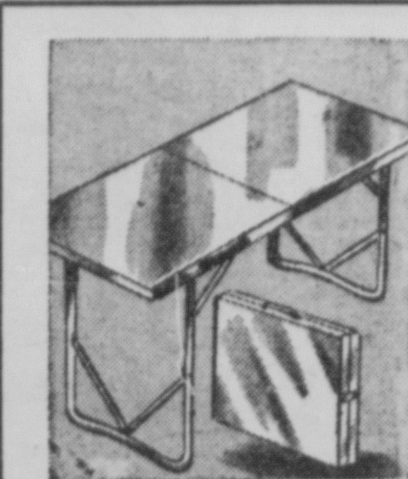

One of the lovely Greenwald girls, she was, and quite a quintette they must have made. You still have the opportunity of knowing three more of them: Mrs. Cicero Gearhart, Mrs. Steward Shiffer and Mrs. T. Floyd Rhodes.

Seems as if good things come in fives today, because we also have the story of those five golden wedding couples who will be honored at Wesley Chapel this coming Sunday. I'm not sure but it seems to me that for the size of the church that must be a record of some kind or other.

The sign they have out at the Middle Smithfield Presbyterian Church, "Church Going Families Are Happier," might well be repeated at Wesley Chapel.

Five Couples Wed 50 Years To Be Honored At Services At Wesley Chapel On Sunday

Five couples who have celebrated 50 or more years of marriage for a total of 263 years will be honored at the Wesley Chapel Methodist Church of which they are all active members. Sunday, July 11, has been selected to honor the five couples: Mr. and Mrs. James Canfield Sr., Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Walters, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Merring, Mr. and Mrs. Steward White and Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Lee.

They will be honored by their fellow church workers and friends at two special services at their home church. Tribute will be paid at the 11 a. m. worship service when Rev. LeRoy Bernard, pastor, will present a golden anniversary sermon, "Golden Opportunities." Following the service a luncheon will be served in the social hall.

At 3 p.m. a special service will be conducted by the pastor when the five couples will renew their wedding vows. Friends and relatives are invited to attend either or both of the services.

The couples have all been members of the Wesley Chapel Church for many years, some of them during their whole lives. All but the Canfields are lifetime residents of the section.

Longest wed are Mr. and Mrs. James N. Canfield Sr. of Bartonsville who were married almost 56 years ago on August 23, 1898 in Waverly, N.Y. by Rev. C. Sweet.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Canfield are from Wyoming County where they spent their childhood and early years of their marriage. They moved to North Carolina where Mr. Canfield was engaged in the lumber business for about 18 years. In 1918, they moved to Monroe County to Bartonsville where Mr. Canfield operated the Bartonsville Feed Mill and Service Station until his retirement several years ago.

The Canfields have four children: James N. Jr., of Star Route, Stroudsburg; Howard K., RD2, East Stroudsburg; Gerald D., of Bartonsville; and Mrs. Vernon Garis, East Stroudsburg. They have 8 grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Steward White of RD3, Stroudsburg were married May 8, 1901 at the Lutheran parsonage in Stroudsburg by Rev. B. F. Apple. Mrs. White is the former Althea Marsh, and both Mr. and Mrs. White have lived near Stroudsburg all their lives. Mr. White has been in business with his son for the past 35 years in the Steward White and Son Concrete Co.

The Whites have two children, a son, Clyde of Stroudsburg, RD3, and a daughter, Mrs. H. J. Pine, of Bryant St., Stroudsburg. They have three grandchildren.

It was 53 years ago on May 23, 1901 that Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Walters were married at the East Stroudsburg Methodist parsonage by Rev. W. K. MacNeal. Mrs. Walters is the former Susan Fleming and was born and raised several miles from Wesley Chapel. Mr. Walters has been a carpenter all his life and is in the contracting business with his sons, although he retired from active participation last Spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Walters have six children: Steward, Raymond, Esther, and Mrs. Ted Meyers, of Stroudsburg; Harold of Tannersville; and Mrs. Claude Imbt of Detroit, Mich. There are 9 grandchildren, and 2 great grandchildren in the family.

On September 22, 1903, Florence Neyhart became the bride of Wilson Merring of Stroudsburg RD3. They still live at the same address a short distance across the road from the church to which they belong, and close to the home where Mr. Merring lived with his parents during his childhood.

Mr. Merring built and operated a garage at Bartonsville for some time during the 1920's. For the past 25 years he has been employed as a pattern maker at the Stroudsburg Engine Works.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Merring are very active in church and Sunday School work. Mr. Merring has taught the Adult Bible Class of Wesley Chapel for the past 35 years.

They have a son, Howard, of Stroudsburg, and a daughter, Lucy, now Mrs. William Detwiler of Marcellus, N.Y. There are four grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Lee, most recently married of the five couples were married fifty years ago on June 16, 1904 and on June 20 of this year held open house to celebrate their golden wedding. Mrs. Lee is the former Mae Halteman. They were married at the Methodist parsonage.

Mr. Lee was a carpenter at the Stroudsburg Engine Works for many years. He is now retired and his hobbies include raising chickens and turkeys. They have one son, Harold of Stroudsburg RD3, and one grandson.

College Grants Semester Leave To Dr. L. J. Koehler

DR. LEROY J. KOEHLER will take a one-semester sabbatical leave from State Teachers College this fall.

He is head of the Department of Social Studies at the college. It will be Dr. Koehler's first leave from the school in 32 years.

The sabbatical leave has been approved by the college board of trustees, according to Dr. Joseph F. Noonan. The leave is given on salary.

DR. KOEHLER came to the college as a summer school instructor in 1921. He began teaching regularly in the fall of 1922 and has been teaching on a year-long schedule ever since.

An authority on the political history and development of Monroe County, he is author of a recognized source book on the subject.

Part of his time, Dr. Koehler says, will be spent on doing local research on Monroe County. Most of the period will be devoted to "seeing the U. S. and Canada," he says, and "the leave is being taken primarily for travel."

HE AND HIS WIFE plan to tour the country through the Northwest, California, Nevada and the Midwest paying an extended visit to Canada. They will return here for a short time then continue their travel with a tour planned to cover the Southern portions of the U. S.

The historian's leave begins on Sept. 1 and continues through Jan. 23, 1955.

Trustees at the college will decide whether to appoint an interim acting department head or continue with the staff as constituted, Dr. Noonan indicated.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

THURSDAY, JULY 8, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Some astrophysicists indicated that the sun will appear better than it is. Seek counsel, advice from intelligent sources; be careful if taking on a new responsibility. Also be well informed.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—Some tendencies toward irritation now. Take necessary precautions to protect valuable, prestige, property. Call upon all resources and influence if you must. Don't anticipate too much, but don't become discouraged, either.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—Don't allow accusations to cloud your abilities. But do your best job. We urge you not to stray from the proverbial "straight and narrow."

June 22 to July 21 (Cancer)—You may encounter uncertainties in business or personal affairs. This is a tricky period that will need most careful study. Be kind in domestic contacts, home.

July 22 to August 21 (Leo)—You can impede your progress if not. Try concentration and above-board. Devote some of the A. M. to studying day's problems, seeking advice, and finding wise words and you'll profit.

August 22 to September 21 (Virgo)—This can be a good day, or just the opposite, depending on your reactions and also how you carry out tasks. Use your intuitive knowledge and sixth sense.

September 22 to October 21 (Libra)—Go along with things at a normal pace. But be laying new plans, formulating a definite course—one of your own. Be careful not to irritate the wrong people, or talk out of turn.

October 22 to November 21 (Scorpio)—Keep your emotions under control, on the specialty good side for inspiration, worthwhile endeavors. In traveling, shipping, negotiating future sales, be circumspect.

November 22 to December 21 (Sagittarius)—Have confidence in your ability. You should turn in a fine report. This period is a generous one for sound matters, including financial ones, that can stand analyzing. P. M. specious romance.

December 22 to January 21 (Capricorn)—The early hours could be fruitful. You will probably think. But the restrictions affecting progress and your ability to solve things will pass by noon. Then you can easily make up for some earlier delays.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Guard against questionable influences, obstacles not immediately evident. Loved ones will give you help, and, if you recognize your own ability, there should be no fear about gains.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—There may be too strong a tendency to cling to past methods. Fall in line with new, modern, improved ways. Don't be circumspect, and too hesitant. day needs enthusiasm, cooperation.

YOU BORN TODAY have outstanding, intelligent, sensitivity and a liking for the worthwhile things. Be practical, curb restlessness and do not be so introspective. You are an interesting person and when educated (and you should continue this yourself), can make noteworthy headway in whatever work you choose. Reading, study and association with high-minded people can be a boon to your health and ambitions. Children of this date are sometimes obstinate and over-sensitive. Be patient, kindly in their rearing, curb stubbornness, and don't WORRY. Be not over-zealous in political projects. Birthdate of John D. Rockefeller.

There is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 6. If the number is less than 6, add 2. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Flood Control Funds Sought By Rep. Walter

REP. FRANCIS E. WALTER, Easton Democrat, appealed to President Eisenhower this week to aid the critical unemployment situation of Northeast Pennsylvania by approving immediate funds for public works projects on the Lehigh Valley Flood Control program.

In a letter to the White House, Congressman Walter called attention to the shutdown last week of Lehigh Navigation Coal Co. mines which resulted in the loss of over 4,000 jobs. Walter said this situation "causes a heavy drain on public funds because of unemployment compensation pay acts."

"IT WOULD seem to me," Walter continues, "that the order against the commencement of public works projects should be modified so as to permit the starting of work this summer on the Lehigh Valley Flood Control project."

"Not only will the construction of this project aid the unemployment situation," Walter points out, "but will offer protection from floods to a large industrial area."

Walter called the President's attention to a 1946 act of Congress appropriating $500,000 for engineering, surveying and other phases of construction.

"I SINCERELY trust that you will direct those officials who now have the problem of unemployment of Northeastern Pennsylvania under consideration to take the necessary steps to permit this project to proceed," Walter concludes.

Part of the flood control project is mapped for Bear Creek near Blakeslee, a tributary which flows into the Lehigh River.

Dr. J. R. Gavin, Optometrist, will be out of town until July 12th. Office open for repairs and appointments.—Adv.

RILEY
By JIM RILEY

Art Wall's absence from several of the recent big golf tournaments wasn't the doing of the lanky pro, but rather was the work of his doctor. Art has been ordered to lay off competitive golf for at least two more weeks, after his blood pressure dropped to 105, from a normal point of somewhere around 130. Art had planned to play in the second annual Glen Brook Pro-Amateur golf tournament on Tuesday, but the night before his doctor said no dice.

Wall instead played a socialable round of 18 holes at Pocono Manor, the local resort he represents on the pro-circuit. Speaking of the Pro-Amateur tournament played at Glen Brook on Tuesday brings to mind the fact that the local course proved plenty tough to visiting pros and amateurs alike. There were deadlocks for virtually every position in the books and virtually everyone had a good time.

When Pete DeAngelis, head pro at Plymouth Country Club, Norristown, pointed out that he's not a "griper" as he questioned a ruling at the scoreboard, he wasn't fooling even a little bit. Pete is one of the truly good guys in the golfing fraternity and has a world of friends. DeAngelis was runner-up in the Philadelphia PGA tournament last year, losing to Henry Williams, Berkleigh Country Club, in the final round. Pete was the sharpshooter who eliminated Harry Obitz, head pro at Shawnee, in the semi-final round of last year's Philadelphia PGA.

Mike Rubish, former head pro at Glen Brook, was one of the most popular golfers in the field Tuesday, even though his game was apparently below par. Mike and his wife, Pat, and Mike Jr. received the well wishes of all their friends on the former's new job at Locust Valley Country Club, the course currently under construction near Allentown. Mike will never lose his popularity in this area.

The reason the second Glen Brook Pro-Amateur tournament appeared more successful than the first is that it was listed on the regular Philadelphia Professional Golfers Association schedule this summer, while the first event of its kind was only an added feature and didn't appear on the regular schedule. The tournament's success is virtually assured for future years.

Stan Dudas, assistant pro at Shawnee, captured low pro honors with a 70, two strokes under par, while Ray "Pike" Fredericks won amateur laurels with the same score. Fredericks, the only left handed player in the tournament as far as this scribe knows, showed his heels to the entire amateur field and stamped himself as one of the best southpaw swingers in gold today. Fredericks teamed with Ray Lambert, Mountain Manor, to finish in a second place tie in the pro-amateur division with a score of 67.

Obitz and Dick Farley, another of Harry's assistants at Shawnee, recently saw Jimmy Demaret and Tony Penna, two of the all-time great pro golfers, off for England from New York. Demaret and Penna are currently playing in the British Open and one or both may be in the cast of the Eastburg Highlights and Festival of Celebrities to be staged at Memorial Stadium on Sunday, August 15.

The first hole proved to be the toughest on the course for most of the pro entries in Tuesday's tournament. This list included Jack Cuttle, Pocono Manor; Al Nelson, Shawnee, and the host pro, Tony Midiri. Cuttle wound up with a 77 and Midiri didn't hand in a card. Nelson was four over par on the first three holes, but rallied so well that he finished with a 73, one stroke over par. Farley also had his troubles on the opening hole.

Glen Brook would have been even tougher for the pro-amateur field if we would have had rain prior to the playing date. The hard fairways gave the various players much more distance on their drives and second shots than they would have ordinarily obtained.

Cleveland Wins With Six Runs In Second; 6-1

Cleveland (AP) — Bullet Bob Turley walked four of the first five Cleveland batters in the second inning last night, and the Tribe pushed across all its runs in that frame for a 6-1 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

The triumph was the 10th for the Indians in their last 11 games and maintained their three and one-half game lead over the second-place New York Yankees. Baltimore — 000 000 010—1 6 0 Cleveland — 060 000 00X—6 8 1

Blue Mountain League Announces All-Star Choices

Pocono A. C. Places Seven On Odd Squad

Portland — Blue Mountain League All-Star teams were selected for Sunday's mid-season clash at Martins Creek during a circuit meeting here at Otto's Grand View last night.

The teams will be known as the Odds and Evens, selected on the basis of the circuit standings as of Tuesday, June 29.

Clubs represented on the Odd team will be Portland, Tatamy, Johnsonville and Pocono A. C. The Even club contains players from Martins Creek, Roseto, Stocktown and Bath.

Pitchers on the Odd club are Harold Jacobsen, Pocono A. C.; Dick Schuster, Johnsonville; Charles "Bud" Rotzell, Tatamy, and Frank Stall, Portland. Catchers are Mike Pontrelli, Portland; Russ Staples, Pocono A. C.; and Dale Larsson, Johnsonville.

Randy Morris, Pocono A. C., and Dan Eppley, Portland, are the first basemen, while Bill Williams, Tatamy, and Paul "Doc" Lim, Pocono A. C., handle the second base duties. Ed Kelly, Johnsonville, and Ralph Fisher, Tatamy, are listed as the shortstops and Art Schaare, Pocono A. C., and Jim Miller, are the third basemen.

Outfielders on the Odd club are Dave Nevil, Pocono A. C.; Arlington Weidlich, Johnsonville; Jerry Magnuson, Portland; Bill Zanette, Tatamy; Randall "Bish" Ott, Portland, and Howard "Howie" Gutshall, Portland.

Rival Players

Pitchers for the Even club are Don Hack, Stocktown; Dave "Doc" Schiavone, Roseto; Bob Weiss, Martins Creek; Dick Walakowitz, Bath, and Maurice Ackerman, Roseto. Catchers include Joe D'Imperio, Roseto; Gus Kovalsky, Martins Creek, and Paul Henning, Bath.

First base will be handled by Olympio "Patch" Pachio, Martins Creek, and Charley Eden, Roseto, while Joe Basco, Roseto, and Andy Julius, Stocktown, handle the second base duties. Shortstops listed on the roster are Don Langner, Martins Creek and George Snyder, Stocktown. Third base duties will be shouldered by Quintus Rotzell, Stocktown; Carl Bethman, Martins Creek and Harold Henning, Bath.

Outfielders include Leonard Castellucci, Roseto; John Nehila, Stocktown; Harold "Hal" Nerino, Roseto; Bill Goldsworth, Martins Creek, and Vincent Dieter, Bath. The Even team will be managed by Pachio, while Nerino, Bob Seibler, Stocktown, and Walter Strauss, Bath, serve as coaches. LeRoy "Cheesy" Egbert, Portland, will pilot the Odd club, assisted by Chet Huber, Tatamy; Les Zeigfus, Johnsonville, and Bill Frear, Pocono A. C.

Other bits of business were discussed, including that of forwarding score sheets to league headquarters. "Bill" Metzger, former pitcher with Pocono A. C., was suspended indefinitely from further play in the Blue Mountain League at last night's meeting. The ruling was enforced because the former Stroudsburg High star pitched for Tannersville, of the Pocono Mountains League, on Monday of this week.

English Lead British Open

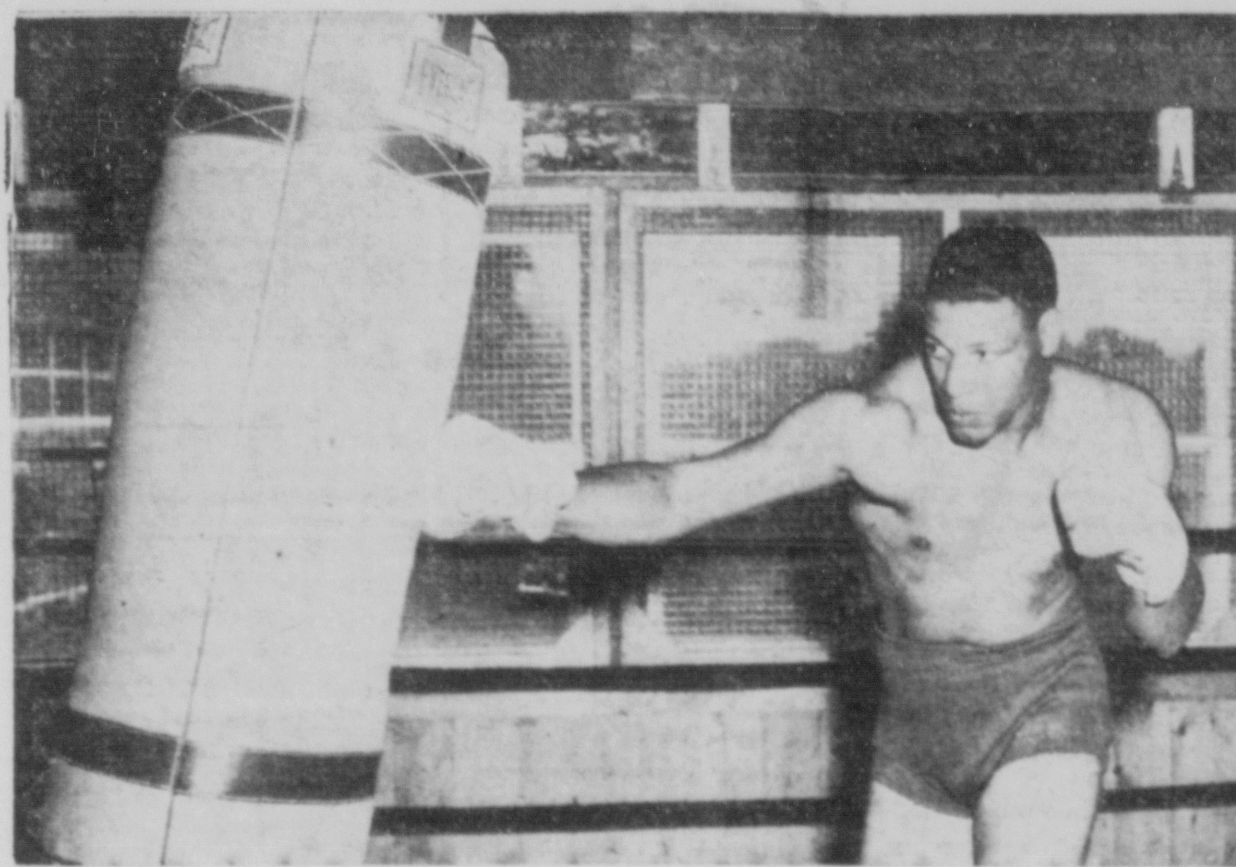

Southport, England (AP) — Two battered putters—one of them a 45-year-old blade that sold for 28 cents and the other a short shaft little putter—carried two little-known English golfers into the lead yesterday in the British Open championship. Sam King and Bill Spence shot record-equaling 69s in the first round of breezy Birkdale to tie for the lead with a one stroke margin over their closest rival.

Behind them came Norman Sutton, an Englishman, with 70, and a trio of 71s by Antonio Cerdá of Argentina and Britain's George Howard and J. R. M. Jacobs. Nearly a dozen others shot 72.

Americans

The 72 shooters included Jim Turnesa of Briarcliff, N. Y., low man among the six Americans who are trying to pick up the option on the loving cup and title Ben Hogan let lapse when he declined to defend.

Other American scores were 73s for Jimmy Demaret of Klamath Lake, N. Y., and Frank Stranahan, the amateur from Toledo, 75 for Gene Sarazen of Germantown, N. Y., and 76s for Al Watrous of Birmingham, Mich., and Toney Penna of Cincinnati.

LONG REACH — Nino Valdes, number two challenger for the heavyweight boxing title, displays his long reach while punching the heavy bag during a training session at Harry's Farm, located five miles above the new Delaware Water Gap bridge. Four Runs In Opening Inning Enable Giants To Coast To Convincing Nod Over Dodgers

Brooklyn (AP) — Pouring across four runs in the first inning, the New York Giants went on to rout Don Newcombe with a home run barrage in the fifth and drubbed the Brooklyn Dodgers last night 10-2 to stretch their National League lead to five and one-half games, their longest lead of the season. The start of the game was held up 53 minutes because of rain.

Jim Hearn, backed by a 12-hit attack that included home runs by Willie Mays, Monte Irvin, Wes Westrum and Alvin Dark, pitched all the way for the Giants. He permitted eight hits to record his sixth triumph against four defeats. It was the big right-handers' first victory at Ebbets Field since July 3, 1952. The victory was the Giants' fifth straight over the Dodgers and their eighth in 11 meetings with their interborough rivals this season.

Homers by Mays, Irvin, and Westrum came in the fifth inning. Mays' blast, his 28th of the season, followed a walk to "Hank" Tompion. Irvin followed with his 13th causing Newcombe to leave in favor of Clem Labine.

Westrum's homer came off Labine.

Ben Wade finished up for the Dodgers. The defeat was Newcombe's fourth against five victories and it marked the first time he has lost to the Giants at Ebbets Field since he joined the Dodgers in 1949.

Brooklyn's only runs came in the first inning. Gil Hodges accounted for both of them with his 21st four-bagger. The blow also scored Duke Snider, who had drawn a two-out walk.

Tigers Option Pitcher

Detroit (AP) — Dick Weik, 26-year-old right-hander of the Detroit Tigers, yesterday was optioned for the second time this season to Little Rock in the Southern Association.

Rain Ruins Local Baseball Schedule

Rain and wet grounds raised havoc with the baseball situation in Monroe and Northampton counties last night.

A Blue Mountain League baseball game between league leaders Portland and Roseto, on the former's home grounds, was washed off the books. No date was set for making up the contest.

Two games are on the agenda today, both beginning at 6:15 p.m. Stocktown invades Tatamy and Bath plays at Martins Creek.

Monroe County Softball League games pitting Al Beseker's Diner against the Eagles and Kulip's Foundry against Worthington Mower were postponed until tomorrow by the inclement weather. Today's schedule sends Ronson IAM against Keiper's Laundry at Stroudsburg Playground, at 6:30 p.m., while Jack's Market and Empire Box clash under the lights at Gordon Giffels field.

Little League
An East Stroudsburg Little League tussle between Cramer's Lumber and Methodists was washed off the books last night and will be played tomorrow. East Stroudsburg National Bank and Heller-Owen-Howell meet today at 6:30 p.m. on the circuit's official field.

Last night's Stroudsburg Little League diamond tussle between Security Trust and Penn-Stroud was washed off the books and will be played on a date to be announced later. Today's schedule will pit Colonial Diner against the Veterans of Foreign Wars, at 6:15 p.m.

The Babe Ruth League of the Stroudsburg All-Star practice was washed out, but the team will drill again today at 6:15 p.m.

No games were scheduled in the Pocono Little League last night, but two will be played today, both beginning at 6:15 p.m. Barrett Rotary and Pocono Lions clash at Mountainhome's Siglin field, while Mount Pocono Rotary and Barrett Lions meet at Mount Pocono.

Rain also washed out an outdoor basketball game between the Henryville House and Camp Lindemere, in Tannersville. The same Henryville House quintet clashes with Ray Kaseman's All-Stars on the Stroudsburg Playground court today, at 7 p.m.

Softball Practice

Minisk Hills — Al Beseker's Diner, an entry in the Monroe County Softball League, will hold a practice session here at Smithfield school today, at 6:15 p.m.

The board granted use of the field with the proviso that Pope Pius X High games wouldn't interfere with Bangor High's regularly scheduled contests or with practice sessions listed for the Slaters.

Pope Pius X High was also asked not to schedule any Saturday home games when Bangor High is scheduled to play on its home field on Friday night. This request was made because if weather conditions force postponement of Friday night games, they are required by Lehigh-Northampton League rules to be played the following day.

Rental
Rental for the field was announced at $50 per game, plus janitorial expenses for the field house.

A discussion also took place concerning the purchase of additional bleachers for Memorial Park field, Marvin DePamphilis, athletic committee chairman, announced that bleachers owned by the Mount Bethel Fire Co., are not available for purchase, as formerly believed. The bleacher committee has been authorized to spend $12,000 for purchase of new bleachers which will seat 600 people.

DePamphilis announced that a special meeting of the school board will be called in the near future to further discuss the purchase of bleachers.

Durelle Regains Canadian Crown

NEWCASTLE, N. B. (AP) — Yvon Durelle of Baie Ste. Anne, N. B., regained the Canadian lightweight boxing championship last night with a 12-round decision over Doug Harper of Calgary.

Third Meeting
It was the third bout between the pair. Durelle lost the title to Harper in Calgary and later fought a draw in the same city.

Giardello Decisions Kilgore To Protect Title Ranking

By Ralph Bernstein
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Joey Giardello, protecting a severely cut cheek from the second round on, combined a sharp left hook with a long overhead right to pound out a unanimous 10-round decision over Billy Kilgore of Miami at the Arena last night.

Giardello, who weighed 158, spotting his opponent four and one-half pounds, had no picnic with the rough and ready Kilgore, despite his heavy advantage in the scoring. Kilgore butted, hit on the break, and generally fought a roughhouse battle in his vain effort to bring about an upset.

Official Count
In the official count, Judge Jimmy Mina gave the third-ranking middleweight contender a 7-2-1 victory; Judge Nate Lopenson carded it an 8-2 Giardello win, while Referee Willie Clark scored it 9-1. The Associated Press gave Giardello eight rounds, Kilgore one, and carded one even.

Giardello suffered a wide gash on his left cheek about an inch under the left eye in the second round, apparently from a butt. The Philadelphia middleweight, who tentatively has an October 22 title bout with 160-pound champion "Bobo" Olson, rocked Kilgore with several left hooks and long rights in the second round and then stepped inside to continue his punishing offensive. When Referee Clark broke the fighters, blood streamed down Giardello's cheek.

Area Dog Show To Be Held Sunday
Swiftwater — An American Kennel Club sanctioned match show, sponsored by the Lackawanna County Kennel Club, will be held on Sunday at Cordial Cottages. This property was formerly known as Marcella Farm. In case of rain, the show will be held under cover.

All breeds will be shown under competent judges. There will be classes for puppies from three to 12 months of age, and there will be a Best of Show puppy as well as Best of Show dog.

A special class for children's handling will also be included. Any dog entered in any regular class is permitted to go into the children's handling class free. However, if a dog is not entered in a class other than the children's handling class, then the regular entry fee must be paid. This class is open to children from six to 16 years of age.

Prizes
Prizes will be given for all classes. Judging starts at 1 p.m. and dogs may be entered after 11 a.m. Refreshments will be served on the grounds.

All owners of pure-breed dogs are urged to bring their dogs and show them whether or not they are members of the Lackawanna Kennel Club.

This will be the first of what is planned to be an annual match show in the Poconos and the public is urged to attend. If any further information concerning the show is needed, you may call Stroudsburg 102-R-5, Cresco 5295 or Mount Pocono 6371. Arrows will be placed on Route 611 and Route 190, directing the way to Cordial Cottages.

Women In Golf Match
Shawnee-on-Deleware — Members of the Shawnee Women's Golf Association will play at Northampton Country Club in a team match today. This will be the first of three matches for both teams. Pocono Manor will feature the opposition in later matches.

Braves Nip
Cubs, 1-0

Chicago (AP)—Danny O'Connell's seventh-inning single preceded Jim Pendleton's double for the game's only run as the Milwaukee Braves defeated the Chicago Cubs, 1-0, yesterday.

It was Milwaukee's seventh straight victory in Wrigley Field as Chet Nichols posted his sixth win on a yield of five hits-four in the last three innings.

Lower
Howie Pollet suffered his fifth loss as he yielded all of the winners' six hits before rookie Bill Tremel pitched the last two innings and handled the Braves in order in both routs.

Exploding Fireworks Injures Girl

EXPLODING fireworks injured Catherine Fantuzzi, of Cedar Grove, N. J., Tuesday. She was treated on the left leg at the General Hospital dispensary in East Stroudsburg. She suffered the injury while vacationing near here.

Other persons at the dispensary Tuesday were seven-year-old Theresa Quinn, of East Orange, N. J., who fell out of bed fracturing her shoulder.

Sue Finnegan, no address given, bumped against a car door and lacerated her right foot.

Two-year-old Joseph Porter, of Philadelphia, fell off a sliding board lacerating his scalp.

117 Swimmers Attend Class

A TOTAL OF 117 persons attended opening-day swimming lessons yesterday at Stroudsburg pool.

Three classes were held. The classes and their registration were: beginning—87 pupils; intermediate—21; junior lifesaving—9.

Regular attendance in all classes is requested by those supervising the courses. Only four absences will be allowed in the beginning or intermediate groups, a pool official said.

Persons interested in diving instruction are asked to contact pool supervisors before Aug. 1. A swimming team is now being formed under direction of Dick Owens. All those interested are asked to meet with Owens on Friday at 6 p.m. at the pool.

Registrations for lifesaving, senior division, are still being taken.
